BHU at a Glance

Banaras Hindu University, the capital of all knowledge, is a testament to the vast vision of Mahamana Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, who viewed education as an enabling pathway to nation building and the development of its resources. It has been more than a century since it was established in 1916, and BHU has, over the years, epitomised a seamless synthesis of ancient wisdom and modern scientific temper. It is a Central University, with the Hon'ble President of India as its Visitor.

The Founder's Vision

The founder of BHU, Mahamana Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, envisaged it as a teaching, examining and residential university, distinct from other prevailing universities of the time, which were primarily examining universities. He emphasised the preservation of all that was good and great in our ancient civilisation, the promotion of learning and research in the arts and sciences, along with the advancement and diffusion of scientific, technical, and professional knowledge.

The essence of this vision is perhaps best expressed in Mahamana's own words:

"A Teaching University would but half perform its function, if it does not seek to develop the heart-power of its scholars with the same solicitude with which it would develop their brain-power. Hence, it is that the proposed University has placed the formation of character in youth as one of its principal objects. It will seek not merely to turn out men as engineers, scientists, doctors, merchants, theologians, but also as men of high character, probity and honour, whose conduct through life will show that they bear the hall-mark of a great University."

The University

BHU is a vast educational cosmos comprising 5 Institutes, 16 Faculties, 136 Departments, and the Mahila Mahavidyalaya. The Indian Institute of Technology (BHU) is also situated on its campus. This translates into a phenomenal range of disciplines, incorporating almost all conceivable subjects. The faculty members and students are thus offered a plethora of opportunities to pursue their academic and research interests.

The campus of BHU in Varanasi is spread out over 550 hectares (1360 acres) in all its glory. It reflects the core ethos of education at BHU, blending the most modern, state of art research facilities with impressive buildings, some of which are a century old. The Rajiv Gandhi South Campus of BHU, spanning almost 1100 hectares (2,700 acres), is situated at Barkachha in Mirzapur district.

There are four colleges located on their own separate campuses in Varanasi, which are admitted to the privileges of the University.

The fully air-conditioned Cyber Library has a seating capacity of over 200 persons at one time. The newly created air-conditioned Periodical Hall provides 60 cabins for the use of faculty members and research scholars. The Central Library functions at the apex in conjunction with a chain of departmental, faculty and institute libraries.

In addition, the university has a 100-kilometre-long fibre optic backbone, a campus-wide LAN, connecting all academic and administrative buildings, as well as hostels, with a well-equipped Computer Centre that provides high-end computing and training facilities.

The university has been provided with three 1 Gbps nodes of the National Knowledge Network (NKN) under NME-ICT. Besides these, the creation of more than 100 smart classrooms has gone a long way in further enhancing the teaching and learning experience at BHU.

The Temple

The Shri Vishwanath temple, dedicated to Lord Shiva, is situated in the centre of the campus. This temple, constructed of white marble, soars to a height of 76 metres and is a landmark of Varanasi.

The foundation day of the Temple is celebrated on Chaitra Krishna Ashtami, as it was on this day, on March 11, 1931, that it was established in the presence of Mahamana Malaviya ji himself. The temple and the lush green gardens surrounding it serve as an oasis of peace and spirituality for the residents of BHU, as well as devotees from all parts of the world.

A.3. Merit Preparation

- I. The Ph.D. admission 2025, under the JRF mode, will be based on merit, with 100% weightage given to the percentile score computed from interview marks using the method provided in clause A.3.(IV)

Ph.D. Admission Information Bulletin, 2025-26

- II. The Ph.D. admission 2025 under NET mode shall be done on Merit based on the total score of 100 that will come from two components –
- (a) 70% weight of the total Percentile of the candidate in UGC/CSIR NET examination as provided by the agency. In case of ICAR-SRF (Ph.D.) examination, the score as per the data provided by ICAR will be used.
 - (b) 30% weightage of interview percentile as computed by the university using the method given below under clause A.3.(IV). In case of ICAR-SRF (Ph.D.) examination qualified candidates 30% weightage of interview score will be used.
- III. A marksheet will be issued on the candidate's portal mentioning interview marks, percentiles and the numbers used in calculation of percentile, merit and rank under each mode of admission.
- IV. Percentile calculation method: The following method will be used to calculate the percentile of a candidate whose interview marks under a particular subject basket is, say, T:

$$P = \frac{M}{N} \times 100$$

Where:

P: Denotes the computed percentile of the interview marks of that candidate in the mentioned subject basket.

N: Denotes the total number of candidates who appeared in the interview of that subject basket.

M: Number of candidates who secured an interview mark less than or equal to his/her marks.

Example: Let in a Subject Basket Code XX2, there are four subjects in the subject basket (one main discipline and three allied disciplines), and 50 (15 from the main discipline and 35 from the allied discipline) students appeared in the interview. A candidate (Mr. Z) got 17 marks out of 30 in the interview. Further, 20 out of such 50 candidates got interview marks less than or equal to the marks of Mr. Z, in this case, N=50, M=20 and the Percentile of interview marks will be:

$$P \text{ (percentile of marks 17)} = \frac{20}{50} \times 100 = 40$$

Similarly, if another candidate secured 27 marks out of 30 and it is the highest among all 50 candidates, then his/ her percentile will be:

$$P \text{ (percentile of marks 27 as highest)} = \frac{50}{50} \times 100 = 100$$

A.4. Interview

- I. The candidate is required to appear before an interview committee of the concerned discipline/department/centre/school. Members of interview committee will assess the performance of candidates separately.
- II. For each mode of admission, the interview will be of 30 marks. The average of the marks awarded by the members of the interview committee shall be awarded to the candidate.
- III. For Faculties of Visual Arts and Performing Arts where practical knowledge and expertise of the applicant is crucial to decide his/her suitability as Ph.D. scholar, there shall be a qualifying practical examination as decided by the concerned Faculty and duly approved by the UACB before the commencement of Ph.D. admission process and the candidates who qualify in the practical examination shall be allowed to appear in the interview.

IV. Calling of the Applicants to Appear in the Interview:

- (i) Under the JRF mode of admission all the candidates shall be called to appear in the interview.
- (ii) Under the NET mode of admission, ten candidates, against each advertised seat, shall be called to appear in the interview based on the computed total percentile of UGC/CSIR NET Examination or score of ICAR-SRF (Ph.D.) Examination, as the case may be. However, keeping in view the total number of applications received, the concerned Department/Centre/School may invite up to a maximum of 15 candidates for each advertised seat after obtaining prior approval of the University Admission Coordination Board (UACB).
- (iii) If the number of applications, under NET mode, for each advertised seat is less than 10, all candidates will be called.
- (iv) For each advertised seat in any department/centre/school under various categories in the two admission modes, the total number of candidates to be called for interview shall comprise 80% from the main discipline and 20% from the allied disciplines. In case of non-availability of candidates in main/allied discipline subjects, the shortfall will be compensated by calling the remaining number of candidates from allied/main discipline subjects.

A.5. Seat Allocation Rule

The seat allocation shall be done as per the following procedure -

- I. For each subject basket, a single merit list will be prepared for each mode of admission, including candidates from both main and allied disciplines, and arranged in the order of merit.
- II. Out of the total advertised seats of a subject basket, a maximum of 20% seats shall be filled by the candidates of the allied subjects, and the remaining 80% seats shall be filled by the candidates of main discipline. For the Institute of Medical Sciences, the number of seats in the allied discipline will be equal to the number of faculty members who have offered seats for Ph.D. programme for the academic session 2025-26. The allocation of seats shall be 50% in both modes, with fractional seats, if any, rounded off in favour of the JRF Mode.

- III. The allocation of seats shall be done strictly based on merit, and the candidate of any category may be allotted seats in the main/allied discipline. Once the seats of any category are filled by the candidates of the main or allied discipline subjects the remaining candidates of that category shall be kept on the waiting list.
- IV. In any subject basket, if vacancies are not filled up due to lack of candidates from the main discipline/allied discipline, the vacant seats will be filled by the candidates of allied discipline/main discipline of the same mode. However, this is not applicable to seats in the Institute of Medical Sciences.
- V. The seat allocation for the various centres of the university shall be done as per the Academic Council Resolution of 07th December, 2024.
- VI. In case of a tie between candidates, the candidate with higher age shall be considered as having a higher rank.
- VII. If the seats remain vacant in any mode of admission, the second cycle of admission, as per clause A.6 of the bulletin, shall commence after the end of the first cycle of admission.

A.6. Second Cycle of Admissions

In order to prevent loss of opportunity for the candidates not called for verification and interview, after the end of the first cycle of the admission process, the second cycle of admission shall commence to fill the vacant seats (due to non-availability of eligible candidates) in either of the admission modes by transferring the seats to the other mode. The second cycle of admission shall be done as per the following –

- I. The vacant seats of any category in one mode will be transferred to the same category in the other mode.
- II. To maintain consistency with the first cycle of admission, the same calling method shall be used. Maintaining the calling number of the concerned department/centre/school, additional candidates will be called for verification and interview.
- III. For those candidates who were initially called in the first cycle and were kept on the waiting list, their interview marks of the first round shall be used for merit preparation.
