MAHAMANA'S CAMPUS PLAN AS VISUALIZED IN 1916

Banaras Hindu University at a Glance

Banaras Hindu University, the capital of all knowledge, is a testament to the vast vision of Mahamana Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, who viewed education as an enabling pathway to nation building and the development of its resources. It has been more than a century since it was established in 1916, and BHU has, over the years, epitomised a seamless synthesis of ancient wisdom and modern scientific temper. It is a Central University, with the Hon'ble President of India as its Visitor.

The Founder's Vision

The founder of BHU, Mahamana Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, envisaged it as a teaching, examining and residential university, distinct from other prevailing universities of the time, which were primarily examining universities. He emphasized the preservation of all that was good and great in our ancient civilisation, the promotion of learning and research in the arts and sciences, along with the advancement and diffusion of scientific, technical, and professional knowledge.

The essence of this vision is perhaps best expressed in Mahamana's own words: "A Teaching University would but half perform its function, if it does not seek to develop the heart- power of its scholars with the same solicitude with which it would develop their brain- power. Hence, it is that the proposed University has placed the formation of character in youth as one of its principal objects. It will seek not merely to turn out men as engineers, scientists, doctors, merchants, theologians, but also as men of high character, probity and honour, whose conduct through life will show that they bear the hall-mark of a great University."

The University

BHU is a vast educational cosmos comprising 5 Institutes, 16 Faculties, 136 Departments, and the Mahila Mahavidyalaya. The Indian Institute of Technology (BHU) is also situated on its campus. This translates into a phenomenal range of disciplines, incorporating almost all conceivable subjects. The faculty members and students are thus offered a plethora of opportunities to pursue their academic and research interests.

The campus of BHU in Varanasi is spread out over 550 hectares (1360 acres) in all its glory. It reflects the core ethos of education at BHU, blending the most modern, state of art research facilities with impressive buildings, some of which are a century old. The Rajiv Gandhi South Campus of BHU, spanning almost 1100 hectares (2,700 acres), is situated at Barkachha in Mirzapur district.

There are four colleges located on their own separate campuses in Varanasi, which are admitted to the privileges of the University.

The university is renowned for academic excellence and ground breaking research. Thus, it has consistently been placed among the top universities in India by the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF). It has also been accorded the status of an Institution of Eminence by the Ministry of Education, a recognition given only to select institutions in the country.

The fully air-conditioned Cyber Library has a seating capacity of over 200 persons at one time. The newly created air-conditioned Periodical Hall provides 60 cabins for the use of faculty members and research scholars. The Central Library functions at the apex in conjunction with a chain of departmental, faculty and institute libraries.

The University has a WiFi-enabled campus, and all academic and administrative offices are fully Wi-Fi connected. In addition, the university has a 100-kilometre-long fibre optic backbone, a campus-wide LAN, connecting all academic and administrative buildings, as well as hostels, with a well-equipped Computer Centre that provides high-end computing and training facilities.

The university has been provided with three 1 Gbps nodes of the National Knowledge Network (NKN) under NME-ICT. Besides these, the creation of more than 100 smart class rooms has gone a long way in further enhancing the teaching and learning experience at BHU.

The Temple

The Shri Vishwanath temple, dedicated to Lord Shiva, is situated in the centre of the campus. This temple, constructed of white marble, soars to a height of 76 metres and is a landmark of Varanasi.

The foundation day of the Temple is celebrated on Chaitra Krishna Ashtami, as it was on this day, on March 11, 1931, that it was established in the presence of Mahamana Malaviyaji himself. The temple and the lush green gardens surrounding its erveasanoasis of peace and spirituality for the residents of BHU, as well as devotees from all parts of the world.
